Excerpt: . . . of the State of Kentucky, which required a carrier to deliver its ears to a connecting carrier, was held invalid because it did not provide adequate protection for their return or compensation for their use. It was hence held that it amounted to a taking of property without due process of law. But the Court was careful to say, that in view of the Opinion of the Court, H90 well-known and necessary practice of connecting roads, we are far from saying that a valid law could not be passed to prevent the cost and loss of time entailed by needless transshipment or breaking of bulk, in case of an unreasonable refusal by a carrier to interchange cars with another for through traffic. The point of the decision was that compensation should be provided, and by the law. As it is expressed in the opinion,...
