Booksurge Publishing, United States, 2010. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 203 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Statistics show that the death of an elderly wealthy person is often expedited-but often not before they suffer some form of physical abuse and financial exploitation that drains most, if not all, of their savings and/or investments. The crimes are usually committed by someone they trust and most often by a family member. This is the story of a woman who suffered such a fate. The death certificate states she died of natural causes, but the medical records describe it differently. Some would now call it death by euthanasia; others may call it terminal sedation. Many will call it murder. In one of the more shocking accounts to which you will ever bear witness, Judith Maksym Roughton takes us on a shocking, deeply disturbing journey for justice as she fights to have her mother's death duly investigated. For the past nine years, Roughton has been investigating the events and circumstances surrounding her mother's death and during this time she uncovered an elaborate and sophisticated scheme of financial exploitation and corruption that transcends all conceptions of a caring, benevolent society. Hers is a story of financial advisors and brokers of Morgan Stanley cooperating in the exploitation of her mother's wealth, of a bank president failing to check her mother's accounts for unusual transactions even after receiving a request to do so, of the local police's dereliction of duty in investigating competently a complaint of elder abuse, of the unethical committees who are supposed to look into complaints of lawyers malfeasance rather than standing by impotently, of a Public Integrity Unit that doesn't know what integrity means, of judicial corruption in the surrogate...
